The approach is to be a phased response plan tied to disease threshold indicators for Jamestown Canyon Virus (JCV), West Nile Virus (WNV), and Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE) using the State of New Hampshire Arboviral Illness, Surveillance, Prevention and Response Plan from the Department of Health &amp; Human Services Division of Public Health Services as a model. The prevention measures are to include a mosquito control ordinance, public education on elimination of breeding sites, public education on personal protective actions, the provision of child safe mosquito spray in town offices, larval and adult mosquito catchment testing, surveillance and monitoring of mosquito population and habitat conditions, consideration of local ecological systems, habitat manipulation methods, licensed use of Organic Materials Review Institute (OMRI) biological larvicides to control breeding interest sites, full disclosure of larvicide use, advance notice of larvicide use, the provision of an opt out opportunity that eliminates larvicide contact with opposed party's land and if the town elects to include adulticide control it is to be utilized only with strict red level disease threshold criteria with opt out opportunities in place that eliminate adulticide contact with opposed party's land.
